

Comenius Project – Greece

Even though I already knew that I was going to love this mobility it definitely exceeded my expectations.

Everything was amazing. The host family was perfect, they were so nice to me, they treated me as their children and the emotion when I had to return to Portugal really caught me by surprise.

My host partner was so nice to me. Actually I already knew her as she had been staying at my house and she definitely made everything possible and impossible to make me feel at home. For all of that I have to say a huge thank you to the family who hosted me.

All the hours of travelling from one place to another to get to Greece, all the nights not so well slept and the anxiety I felt every day were totally worth it.

All the amazing friendships I made, all the moments we all spent together are memories that I will take with me forever. This was one of the most amazing experiences in my life and I can only say that definitely it was meant to be for me to go to Greece.

I grew up, I learned so many new things, I had so much fun and met so many fantastic people that I feel kind of overwhelmed when thinking of everything that happened in Greece. It certainly couldn't have been better than it was.

I made friendships for life, I met people that are now very special for me and that makes me feel that I just wish I could go back in time to be able to enjoy and appreciate every single moment over and over again.

All the unique, special, fantastic and unforgettable moments I lived in Greece couldn't be possible if it wasn't because of all the Greek students who hosted everyone who participated in this mobility.

A very special thank you to the people who got very close to me during this experience because they know who they are.

Thank you to all the teachers who make this amazing experience happen.

Last but not least, this was definitely an experience that changed my life.
